From the “brain freeze” department:

In last weekend’s bulletin, I wrote that Fr. John Fraser was the last priestly vocation to come from St. John’s. In fact, that distinction belongs to Fr. George La Grutta, who was ordained in 2010; he is the pastor of St. Anthony of Padua-St. Thomas Aquinas Parish in Yulan (Sullivan County). Fr. George’s family is long established in the parish; he is a graduate of both St. John School and Burke Catholic. He worked for many years as a pharmacist, dur-

One of our responsibilities is the pastoral care of the residents of the nursing homes and facilities within our parish. These include Campbell Hall Rehabilitation Center; Elant and Glen Arden; and Valley View. In this, we are aided by a very generous group of volunteers, who coordinate and set up for Masses;
bring the Eucharist to the residents; and interface with the staffs of the facilities to ensure that everything goes smoothly. We are in need of additional help with this ministry. If you're willing and able to commit a few hours each week, or would simply like to learn more, please visit, call or email the parish office at 294-5328.

Pray for the safe and speedy return of our

As both Fr. Peter and Msgr. Bayani will be leaving us at the end of the summer, we'd like to have a farewell reception on Sunday, August 28, following the 12:00pm Mass. Please mark your calendars.

Fr. Jeffrey Pomeisl, our new parochial vicar, will arrive in the parish next Saturday, July 9.

+ + +

I'd like to highlight a few upcoming events:

There's still time to register for Vacation Bible Camp, which begins on Monday, July 18 and concludes on Friday, July 22. Registration forms are available in the vestibule and at the parish office. What better way to spend a week than to grow in our love and knowledge of Christ through Sacred Scripture!

There will be a special Holy Hour in the church this Monday, July 4, from 7:00 to 8:00pm. Many are anxious about the future of our country, and our Christian response is prayer and trust in the Lord. Before the fireworks begin on Independence Day, join us for an hour of Eucharistic adoration and prayer for our country as we entrust our future to God. Fr. Peter will preach.

All young adults are invited to a movie night on Friday, July 15 at 8:00pm; if the weather permits, it will be shown on the lawn behind the parish house. The feature is the classic 1954 film, On The Waterfront, starring Marlon Brando, Eva Marie Saint, and Karl Malden. This event is sponsored by Orange County Catholic Young Adults; for more information, please email OCCatholicYA@gmail.com, or speak with Fr. Peter.

Catholic Charities Community Services of Orange and Sullivan is sponsoring its annual golf outing on Monday, July 18 at West Hills Golf Club. They welcome golfers and sponsorships. For more information, please call 845-294-5124, ext. 303, or send an email to Kristin.Jensen@archny.org.

Thirty years ago this September, I headed off to Cathedral Preparatory Seminary, the high school or "minor" seminary of the archdiocese, which was then located on the Upper West Side of Manhattan. In the ensuing years, the "Prep" has been transformed from a freestanding high school to a weekend retreat program for high school age students who are considering the priesthood as a vocation. Young men gather once a month at St. Joseph's Seminary for prayer, fellowship, and spiritual formation. A typical weekend begins on Friday evening and concludes with Mass and lunch late Sunday morning. I had the opportunity several years ago to serve as the retreat master for two Prep weekends; I was favorably impressed with the program, and am very pleased that several men who participated in the program have been ordained, or are in the seminary now. For more information, please speak with me or Fr. Peter, or visit <http://archny.org/cathedral-preparatory>. We've also posted details on our parish website; go to "Resources" and scroll down to "Cathedral Prep."

Faithfully your priest,
Fr. George Hafemann

BIBLE BASICS 21: THE PROPHETS, PART I

Fr. Peter Heasley

The history of Israel and Judah recounts the actions of some prophets, and many of the prophets have their own books as well. We hear of Samuel, Nathan, Elijah, and Elisha only within the greater narrative, whereas Isaiah's words and deeds are contained both in II Kings and in his own book. Jeremiah, though living through the events of II Kings, is not mentioned there, though the last chapter of his book is taken directly from the last chapter of II Kings. The prophecy of Ezekiel and many of the Twelve Prophets occurs during or after the exile to Babylon.

PROPHETS
Isaiah	Obadiah
Jeremiah	Jonah
Lamentations	Micah
Baruch	Nahum
Ezekiel	Habakkuk
Daniel	Zephaniah
Hosea	Haggai
Joel	Zechariah
Amos	Malachi

The books of the prophets contain their words and narrate their actions, and yet, as books, they perform a prophetic action themselves. The Book of Isaiah, for instance, famously contains a great deal more than the words of the prophet Isaiah. From the Middle Ages, scholars have recognized a great difference between Isaiah 1–39 and 40–66. Now, scholars typically recognize three “Isaiah’s” in the one book: chapters 1–39, which recount the historical Isaiah of the 8th century BC; 40–55, which tell of the Suffering Servant; and 56–66, which tell of a new order in Zion. All together, these three sections do act as one book, and indeed, as a whole, the book anticipates the life of the Church, in Old Testament preparation, the life, death and resurrection of Christ Jesus, and the age of the Church. Isaiah, in fact, has been called a “fifth gospel” for the many times it anticipates the birth, suffering, and glory of Christ.

The Book of Jeremiah is more straightforwardly a collection of his words and actions. It is more or less chronological, though there is a great difference in the Greek and Hebrew versions of his book, in terms of chapter order. Jeremiah lives and works in the 7th and 6th centuries BC, immediately before the exile. We do not hear from him during the exile, unless the tradition is true that he is the author of Lamentations. The prophet Baruch is Jeremiah's secretary and has his own book as well.

The Book of Ezekiel is, perhaps, the most rigorously constructed as one book (as opposed to a collection of oracles). He prophesies during the exile, in Babylon itself. In Ezekiel, some new themes begin to emerge, especially the presence of God among the people, outside and without the temple. Ezekiel employs dramatic actions and apocalyptic imagery, which we will discuss in greater detail next time. Ezekiel's book anticipates and perhaps brings about the importance of the Old Testament priesthood and the Priestly strain of theology found in Leviticus and other parts of the Pentateuch.

In addition to these three Major Prophets, there are twelve Minor Prophets, each with their own book. They are not given in chronological order. They live in all periods of Israel's history: the two kingdoms (Amos, Hosea, Micah, Zephaniah, Nahum); the exile itself (Habakkuk, Obadiah); and after the exile (Haggai, Zechariah, Joel, Malachi, and Jonah). What unites their individual prophecies is that their warnings point to a coming “Day of the Lord,” a moment of judgment and restoration.

The Book of Daniel is unique among the prophets in being composed of apocalyptic scenes, didactic stories, and prophetic utterances. It falls outside the categories of Major and Minor Prophets.
